

Online global media coverage for the Centre for Climate Change Economics and Policy between 1 October 2008 and 16 August 2012

The following table gives the number of online news articles from around the world (in any language) mentioning the Centre for Climate Change Economics and Policy or its members, as recorded by Meltwater News (not including articles published in newspapers and other media outlets owned by News Corporation and its divisions, i.e. not including 'The Times', 'The Sunday Times', 'Wall Street Journal', etc.).

Period	Number of mentions
1 October 2008 to 30 September 2009	8,108
1 October 2009 to 30 September 2010	8,197
1 October 2010 to 30 September 2011	3,570
1 October 2011 to 16 August 2012	3,678
Total number of articles 1 October 2008 to 16 August 2012	23,553

It should be noted that worldwide media coverage of climate change as a whole peaked in late 2009 and early 2010, driven by reporting before and immediately after the United Nations climate change conference in Copenhagen, and has been much lower in the period following.

A selection of online articles and podcasts of broadcast items, which have been highlighted since late 2010 on the CCCEP website, are listed here:
